WILLING—to give blood, these workers were given pre-donation physicals. Only 10 were turned down during the visit. Getting examination in photo are D. A. Graham, Pittston; Jim Ludwig, Scranton, and Kenneth Banzhof, Swiftwater. Dr. David F. Kohn, Mount Pocono is the physician. Technicians and assistants are Norma Eshback, Stroudsburg, and Mrs. Kohn. Physical examinations determine whether or not the prospective donor is able to give a pint of blood to the drive or if blood count is correct.

ABLE—to give blood during yesterday's visit was Peggy Regan, Scranton resident employed at the depot. Miss Regan was one of 157 persons who donated; helped put Monroe County blood collection back on its feet after a lag in local donations put the collection 56 pints behind quota. County Red Cross officials praised depot management and workers for outstanding job. Organization of visit was prompted by stories and editorials in The Daily Record, depot officials said. (U. S. Signal Depot Employees Donate 157 Pints Of Blood To Monroe County Bank

Special Drive Wipes Out Local Deficit

Tobyhanna Signal Depot employees put Monroe County "over the top" in the blood donor drive yesterday with a donation of 157 pints.

A county Red Cross spokesman praised the efforts of depot employees and management highly last night. "They were all wonderful to us," said the spokesman, Mrs. Walter Dreher. "The mobile collection unit equipment was set up in a very big place with plenty of space."

YESTERDAY'S Bloodmobile stop at the depot was an emergency measure. Until then Monroe County residents had lagged behind in blood donation to the area blood bank.

Because of this deficit—the first major occurrence in the history of the local drive—area blood bank officials were forced to notify Monroe County that blood supplies to the local hospital would be seriously curtailed unless the deficit was removed.

RESPONDING to stories and editorials in this newspaper, depot officials asked the Red Cross to schedule a special Bloodmobile visit there. The depot stop was in addition to any regular monthly visits.

When the special stop was planned, Monroe County's deficit stood at 56 pints. At the end of yesterday's donations the county blood supply was "over the top" by 101 pints.

Red Cross officials were quick to warn last night, however, that the surplus should not be taken for granted. Donations from local residents must still be maintained at their past level or the county supply will dwindle rapidly again, they said.

THE BLOODMOBILE will stop again in Monroe County on Thursday, July 22. Location for that visit has not yet been determined.

Tobyhanna depot officials expressed great satisfaction with the response among their employees to yesterday's blood collection. One official also credited publicity in The Daily Record with arousing and sustaining interest in the drive.

Clyde Burke, chief public relations officer at the depot, said the activation of the drive was "the result of editorials in The Daily Record."

THIS WAS the second time the Red Cross Bloodmobile unit has stopped at the depot. In February the unit collected 206 pints there. Total for the two visits is 363 pints.

Only 10 prospective donors were rejected during the drive, according to Mrs. Dreher.

Praising depot employees last night, LeRoy Mikels, head of the Monroe County blood donor drive, said: "I'm sure I express the gratitude of all Monroe County residents when I thank the officials and employees at the Tobyhanna depot for an emergency job extremely well done."

INCLUDED in the list of those who organized the drive were the co-chairmen and all department heads at the Signal Depot.

The quota for the July 22 Bloodmobile visit will be announced later, officials said.

Harris Refuses To Assign Decker To Work On Police Force

THE STATUS was pretty much quo in Stroudsburg yesterday. Police Officer Russell Decker reported for work and Burgess Hal H. Harris told him there wasn't any.

Decker was reinstated in his job as patrolman Wednesday night by Borough Council. Harris told council at the meeting that he advised against reinstatement and he would not permit Decker to serve on the force.

COUNCIL unanimously approved the reinstatement; stipulated Decker should not be paid for the suspension period from June 3 to that day.

Yesterday morning Officer Decker reported for assignment at the borough municipal building.

According to Police Chief James McConnell, Decker was informed by Burgess Harris that he would not be assigned.

Decker then left after a short conversation with Harris. Decker's attorney, Walter Olenick, said last night:

"WE'RE taking the position that Decker is a full-fledged member of the police force and he will be entitled to receive his pay. He is ready, willing and able to work."

"Whether we take any legal action in the future will depend entirely upon how long the mayor continues his present attitude," Olenick said.

The question of legal action, Olenick said, would concern whether the burgess, as a public official, was failing to perform his duties. Under law the burgess is head of the police department.

ANY LEGAL action, Olenick indicated, would turn on this point, therefore:

Although council seemed in agreement that the burgess had the right to suspend the patrolman for failure to follow a direct order from his superior officer (the burgess) is the burgess within his rights in subsequently refusing to assign the officer to a job after he has been legally reinstated by council?

Burgess Harris first suspended Decker on May 17. This suspension was ruled improper by council on June 2. Council said Harris had not filed copies of his charges with council or with Decker.

HARRIS SUSPENDED Decker again on June 3. This time he filed the charges heard Wednesday night by council.

They included: inefficiency, neglect of duty, disobedience of an order from superiors, conduct unbecoming an officer in the presence of Chief McConnell.

Decker has maintained that the present controversy grew out of his refusal to take the burgess to a 20th anniversary celebration at the Central Labor Union in East Stroudsburg.

DECKER told council he refused because he felt it was beyond his jurisdiction. He said he had been told by fellow officers that while on duty he was not to leave the borough unless pursuing a criminal.

Attorney Olenick indicated last night that he and his client would continue in their present position—with Decker receiving pay without actual assignment.

Legal action would depend entirely upon whether the situation was resolved, Olenick said, without recourse to the courts.

Burgess Harris indicated last night he would fight any legal battle through to the limit.

"IF THEY take this to court I'll appeal it right up to the Superior Court," he said. "And they don't meet until next April."

Decker, the burgess said, "showed up and I told him there's nothing here for you to do. I'll keep right on telling him that, too," he said.

The burgess said he told Decker: "I don't want anybody working for me who gave a malicious lie to the newspaper." He was referring to Decker's statement about the Harris request for transportation to the CLU club, the burgess said.

ASKED IF HE had not requested such transportation, Harris said:

"Yes, I asked him to, but it wasn't any of his business whether it was private business or not." "I'm running this town," the burgess said. "He's (Decker) nothin' but a paid employee."

House Rejects Proposal To Hike Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House yesterday voted 309-36 for a bill expanding unemployment insurance coverage, after beating down a Democratic drive to increase weekly benefits.

The bill, which now goes to the Senate, would add about four million workers to the 36 million already covered by the federal-state jobless insurance program.

IT ADDS about 2½ million federal government employees for the first time, and extends coverage to firms hiring four or more employees for 20 weeks in a year. The present law, enacted in 1935, covers firms hiring eight or more employees for 20 weeks.

President Eisenhower had requested coverage for six million more persons, including firms with one or more workers without regard to length of service. The Ways and Means Committee trimmed down the President's proposal before bringing it to the House floor.

A DETERMINED band of Democrats denounced the House bill as inadequate and fought for amendments to increase payments to the jobless and extend payments for at least 26 weeks.

They were beaten on a roll call vote of 241-110. Supporting the move were 18 Republicans, 91 Democrats and 1 independent. Against were 173 Republicans and 68 Democrats.

Benefits and payment periods now vary according to state laws, with the minimum in some states as low as $5 a week for six weeks. The average is less than $25.

AN AMENDMENT by Rep. Forand (D-R.I.) would have set the minimum benefit at one-half the individual worker's weekly wage, and the maximum payment at two-thirds the average weekly wage in the state.

Chairman Reed (R-N.Y.) of the Ways and Means Committee, sponsor of the bill, said it would extend coverage as far as is practical and still allow flexibility for different conditions in the various states.

"It is no longer appropriate to deny the basic protection of this system to any segment of our working population to whom extension of coverage is demonstrably practical," Reed said.

HE DENOUNCED the Forand proposal as a denial of states rights.

The House bill also permits states to lower unemployment taxes on employers after one year of good employment experience under the program. The present law requires three years experience before taxes can be cut.

Castillo Armas To Head Junta

GUATEMALA (AP)—Col. Carlos Castillo Armas emerged yesterday as the head man of a three-man junta ruling Guatemala.

The leader of the recent anti-Communist revolt was elected to the junta's presidency. Col. Elfigo Monzon, head man of a five-man junta since last week, remains a member of the ruling committee along with Maj. Enrique Oliva.

Leaders Vow Finish Fight Against Seating Red China

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Eisenhower-Dulles pledge to fight to the end against a United Nations seat for Red China yesterday headed off a congressional proposal for automatic withdrawal from the international organization in case it admits the Peking regime.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader who was spearheading the drive, softened his proposal. He offered legislation which would:

ONE—Place Congress on record again against the seating of the Communists as the representatives of China in the U. N.

TWO—In the event of Red China getting into the U. N. General Assembly or Security Council, request President Eisenhower to inform Congress of the international implications of such a development and recommend a course of action.

Knowland said the new proposal would be formally introduced as an amendment to the 3½ million dollar foreign aid authorization bill.

The development came as Secretary of State Dulles declared the United States still has powerful cards to play and that "I do not believe Communist China is in fact going to be seated."

"I DON'T THINK there is going to be any American withdrawal from the U. N. or any occasion for it," Dulles told a news conference.

The United States would use its

Last Rites Conducted For Slain Girl

MIAMI, FLA. (AP)—Her mother cried out in anguish yesterday at funeral services for 7-year-old Judith Ann Roberts, murdered and raped by an unknown assailant.

As Rabbi Schmarchy Swirsky intoned Jewish funeral rites before spectators who were watched by homicide detectives, Mrs. James Roberts cried:

"She went through all that pain and agony. May God have mercy on her soul."

THE RABBI sought to comfort the mother with the thought that while Judith Ann's life had been cut short, she had brought happiness to those who knew her.

"Why did this terrible thing happen to my child?" Mrs. Roberts wailed as she left the funeral chapel for Mt. Nebo Cemetery where Judith's beaten and ravished body was laid to rest.

Detectives who kept the small crowd under surveillance in hopes of finding a clue left after the services without commenting on their observations. Present were the family, neighbors and a handful of strangers.

THE POLICE dragnet which brought in about 30 men for questioning continued to snare known sex perverts and child molesters. A total of about 70 men among this city's quarter million population were to be questioned. Of the first 30, seven were held for further questioning.

Companies Cut Gasoline Prices

NEW YORK (AP)—Soco-Vacuum Oil Co. yesterday announced it would reduce the wholesale price of its regular and premium gasoline in 11 eastern states and the District of Columbia today by ½ a cent to one cent a gallon.

The new wholesale price in the metropolitan New York area will be 15 cents a gallon, down ½ cent, on Soco's regular gasoline. At the same time, Esso Standard Oil Co. announced price reductions averaging 1½ cents a gallon on its regular and premium gasolines in Pennsylvania, effective today.

Atlantic Refining reduced its prices on regular and premium gasoline a cent or more a gallon.

Key Charge Dismissed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The key charge in a perjury indictment against Owen Lattimore—that he lied when he said he had never been a Communist sympathizer or promoter of Red interests—is too vague to be considered, the U. S. Court of Appeals ruled yesterday.

The court, by a vote of 8-1, upheld dismissal of the charge by U. S. Dist. Judge Luther W. Youngdahl in May, 1953. At the same time it reinstated, on 5-4 votes, two lesser charges Youngdahl had thrown out, and upheld the dismissal of still another on an 8-1 ruling.

Lattimore, controversial Far East specialist, called the net result "clearly a major victory."

East Bangor Lions Place

NEW YORK (AP)—Thirty-five thousand Lions roamed the streets of New York yesterday, paused to consider political life in Asia, plunged into lengthy intramural discussions and romped away the evening at a gala show and dancing.

A highlight of their 37th annual international convention was the traditional male quartet contest, won by Parkersburg, W. Va. Runners up were Cedar City, Utah; South Portland, Maine; Downtown Wichita, Kan.; Henderson, Nev.; and East Bangor, Pa., in that order.

Addressing the convalescent second plenary session, Rep. Walter H. Judd (R-Minn.) said 800 million free Asians in 12 nations fear Communism—but they also fear the West's coming to terms with Russia at their expense.

23,000 Strike Rubber Plants

AKRON, OHIO (AP)—Some 23,000 members of the CIO United Rubber Workers Union struck the 10 plants of Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. yesterday, demanding pay boosts greater than five cents an hour.

Picketing was peaceful among the firm's 13,000 employees here as the walkout against Goodyear started.

Puerto Rican Terrorists Given Maximum Sentences For Shooting Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four Puerto Rican terrorists drew the maximum sentences yesterday for what a federal judge called the "atrocious" crime of shooting up the House of Representatives March 1.

The three men involved were sentenced to serve from 25 to 75 years in prison, while fiery Lolita Lebron 34-year-old brunette, was given a term ranging from 16 years and 8 months to 50 years.

The four insisted they were patriots, acting for the freedom of Puerto Rico, but U. S. Dist. Judge Alexander Holtzoff declared their foray was "so heinous, so infamous, so atrocious" as to justify the severest possible penalty.

"BUT FOR the grace of God," said U. S. Atty. Leo A. Rover, the Puerto Ricans would be in court to hear the imposition of death sentences.

Five House members were felled by bullets fired by the Puerto Rican nationalists from the visitors' gallery. All have recovered and resumed their seats.

Because a jury last month convicted her only on five charges of assault with a dangerous weapon, Mrs. Lebron got the lightest sentence. Her male companions were convicted on five charges each of assault with intent to kill, as well as the lesser charges of assault with a dangerous weapon.

THEY ARE Rafael Cancel Miranda, 25; Andres Figueroa Cordero, 29; and Irving Flores Rodriguez, 28.

Mrs. Lebron, who did more talking in the court room yesterday than the others, said she participated in the pistol attack "for a great ideal."

"We are not free," she told the judge.

Play 'Washington Slept Here' Liberally Sprinkled With Laughs But Lacks Real Life

By Leonard Randolph

BUSHKILL.—"George Washington Slept Here," the current production at the Bushkill Playhouse, takes a satirical poke at Pennsylvania real estate, some vaunted traditions and that burlesquing species of American manhood—the city-dweller who yearns for the wide open spaces.

When it's well done the play has more than its share of guffaws. Even moderately well done, as it is by the Anglo-American Production Co. at Bushkill, the laughs are fairly liberal in quantity.

The story concerns a pair of New Yorkers—Newton Fuller and his wife Annabelle. Newt has just bought a ramshackle old house in which the father of his country is supposed to have spent a night. Later it develops the snoozing was done by the unlamented Benedict Arnold.

DISAPPOINTMENTS over the purchase of the house fly fast and heavy. There's the little matter of water (the house has no well). Then there's a plague of the 17-year locusts, Japanese beetles and a noisy next-door neighbor who prides himself on his poisonous annoyance.

Most of the humor between husband and wife in the play must, of necessity, depend on the performance of the woman. She has 90 per cent of the funny lines. In the current production Annabelle is played by a young lady named Robin Plaisted who seems to have approached her assignment with an earnest desire to speak clearly and little else. Miss Plaisted fails to inject any of the wifely sarcasm into her remarks which might make them biting and effective.

MICHAEL CASHIN is the husband and I'm afraid he proceeds with such plaintive inoffensiveness that there's not much point in caring whether the character he plays is likable or detestable. Cashin's moments of enthusiasm about nature and the old house should be pastoral; they're painfully coy instead.

Some of the minor actors succeeded much better in capturing the flavor of the Moss Hart-George Kaufmann play. Best examples of this are Linda Harris, Kathleen McGowan, Rhoden Streeter and Nancy Medcraft.

Miss Harris is brilliant as a slovenly maid; Miss McGowan etches a neatly human portrait of the Summer theater actor's wife who has watched him pass through several promiscuous affairs; young Streeter is eloquently bratty as the acid-tongued nephew and Miss Medcraft makes a mere walk-on speak for a full scene.

THERE IS ALSO a fine performance of a romantic sister-in-law who takes up with the actor by Eugenia Fair and Caroline Collins exudes silent sex in a mute role.

"George Washington Slept Here" is a good play. Unfortunately Peter Dearing's direction has done little to inject life into the wooden interpretations of his principals.

The production cannot be judged on the same basis with many Summer theaters. There are no "name" stars and there is not too much experience behind the actors in its cast. They are eager, earnest and somewhat inexperienced. Onstage with actors who have years of theater behind them, each of these actors could probably bring more from his role.

WHEN YOUTHFUL inexperience is surrounded by more of the same it sometimes makes the whole seem unfinished. This is the case at Bushkill, where the performance is on a par with good community theater.

Les Drake Endeavors To Form New Businessmen's Group

More Traffic, Not Less, Aim Of Organizer

A MOVEMENT to start a new businessmen's organization in Stroudsburg with a view to bringing more traffic into the borough—opposing organizations who want a bypass—was launched this week by Les Drake, local businessman.

Drake said last night he mailed 104 letters to businessmen, 84 of whom have establishments on Route 611 from Foxtown Hill to the CLU Park north of the borough.

"A necessary evil" is the way Drake defined the traffic problem in Stroudsburg.

OPERATOR of Delaware Valley Transportation Co., Drake predicts that a bypass of Stroudsburg would result in the loss of about 15 per cent in business. "The per cent of traffic on Route 611 which stops in town," Drake said, "spells the difference between success and failure to many businesses."

An organization favoring the 9th St. bypass proposed by E. L. Schmidt, State secretary of highways is the primary purpose for creating a new group, Drake announced. "But there are other problems business people on Route 611 and greater Stroudsburg face," he said.

Drake said one of those problems is "bad drinking water on 9th St." but didn't elaborate. "We also want to promote special sales events like Dollar-Day. And we're not getting any of the West End (western part of Monroe County) people in here to shop. We also should have a farm show here," he said.

IN ESSENCE, Drake added "We want more traffic in Stroudsburg, not out." Another proposal Drake offered was parallel parking on Main St.; four lane traffic on Main and three lanes on Ninth St.

Drake said the letter also enclosed a postal card which interested businessmen could fill out and mail to him if they wanted a new organization. "If I get about 30 of these cards back I'll call a meeting for organization," Drake said.

Text of Drake's letter follows: "To all businessmen on Route 611 and Greater Stroudsburg—The 611 Bypass Controversy."

"THERE ARE A LOT of people in Greater Stroudsburg who are opposed to a 611 bypass around Stroudsburg, and there is a demand to organize a new organization that will represent all the people on 611 from Foxtown Hill to the CLU Park, and no other sections of the county.

"It appears that all the nine organizations who want the bypass are either: 1. Not representing all the people mentioned above; 2. not representing any of the people mentioned above; 3. or are representing the county and have a primary interest elsewhere.

"To protect your interest in the bypass controversy which will affect Greater Stroudsburg, are you in favor of a new organization to be called 'The Progressive Businessmen's Association of Greater Stroudsburg' and to be commonly known as PBA, whose primary purpose would be to find ways and means to attract more traffic (by the front door), more business and opposed to diverting any traffic away from Stroudsburg?"

"IF YOU AGREE would you join such an organization with no expense involved, and if so would you fill out the enclosed card and drop it in the mail? If enough sign you will be called to organize."

The letter was signed by Drake. The card for return read: "I am interested and will attend a meeting if called."

Varsity E Praised By School Board

EAST STROUDSBURG school board praised the school system's Varsity E Club highly last night for its efforts to secure a new lighting system for Memorial Stadium.

Directors noted the club's current drive for funds and expressed enthusiasm for the Aug. 15 "parade of stars" slated for the stadium. Proceeds from that entertainment will go to the light fund.

The board accepted the resignation of Clair Hughes, vocal music instructor "with regret." Bills in the amount of $372.70 were approved for payment. A balance of $18,758.71 was reported by board treasurer.

Board Elects Instructor Of Art, Drawing

STROUDSBURG SCHOOL Board hired a new teacher last night in regular meeting at the high school.

Harry W. Robertson, Angiers, N. C., was named teacher of mechanical drawing and art at a salary of $3,600. He is a native of Kingston.

Dick Owens and Virginia Hess were appointed to positions at the playground maintained by the board and the borough. The board gave permission for use of the high school auditorium "several nights a week" for rehearsal of a new county-wide band.

ARCHITECTS were asked to prepare specifications and advertise for bids for a new exterior electric service at the Morey school. The service includes equipment running from the electric utility pole to the interior of the school.

Rain Provides Parched Crops Slight Relief

WEDNESDAY'S rainfall provided "temporary relief" to Monroe County farmers, Arthur Ifft, county agriculture agent said last night.

Farmers were reported concerned over lack of rain for crops, and some were considering using winter stock to feed cattle, Ifft said earlier.

The rain, while not considered sufficient to supply present needs, will help, farmers contacted yesterday all agreed.

Townships To Decide On Voting Machines; No New Purchases Necessary, Clerk Reports

PRICE AND Tunkhannock Township residents will vote in November on whether they want voting machines for the two districts.

Commissioners ordered the question put on the ballot yesterday.

Price and Tunkhannock are the only remaining districts in Monroe County which still use paper ballots. The other 32 have been switching to machines over the last two years.

ONCE A DISTRICT votes in favor of machines, commissioners are required to provide them within a specific period. The bill for voting machines is not paid by the district which uses the machines, but by the entire county. The money comes from the general fund.

In a sense this means Price and Tunkhannock taxpayers have no machines for themselves, but nonetheless must help pay for the machines used by the other 32 districts.

Commissioners have pointed out that it would be a saving if the two remaining districts decide to adopt the voting machine. It would eliminate the need for having paper ballots specially printed for only two districts.

CHIEF CLERK Harry Taylor said that even if Price and Tunkhannock decide to use machines, no new purchase will be necessary. The machines are already in storage if needed, and have been paid for.

Other business by commissioners Amel F. Altomosa, W. Adolph Rake and Granville Shiffer yesterday:

Contract for painting the outside of the county home was awarded to Burton Hamblin, Paradise Township, for his low bid of $1,483.30. There were four bidders. Hamblin also won contracts for painting the county farm farmhouse and warehouse for $736.85.

Commissioners considered repairs to Henryville Bridge in Paradise Township, and to Price Bridge at the intersection of Route 290 and Snow Hill Rd. The repairs were recommended by county engineer Edward C. Hess, Taylor said.

Well Deserved Recognition

Presentation of the Dr. Benjamin Rush Award for outstanding individual and organizational lay work in behalf of public health by Monroe County Medical Society to Frank S. LaBar, president of General Hospital, and to the Gray Ladies Volunteer Service of American Red Cross here were fully merited.

The Rush award, created by the Medical Society of Pennsylvania, is a memorial to Dr. Benjamin Rush, a signer of the Declaration of Independence and a noted leader in the Philadelphia area in the field of public health during the Revolutionary period.

Assigned first at the county level to a layman and a lay organization for outstanding contributions in the field of public health, the Rush award is also given at the state-wide level in the same manner.

Mr. LaBar's associations with organizations and institutions directly and indirectly concerned with public health work covers many years. His volunteer work in posts which made full use of his great administrative talents had their impact on not one, but several agencies devoted to the direct task of improving public health—both mental and physical.

As president of General Hospital, these same high abilities of Mr. LaBar have been responsible for soundness of operation which has resulted in highest standards of service to the public.

The Gray Ladies have compiled a most impressive record of lay service which covers 19,500 volunteer hours since their inception in July, 1950. The 50 women of this organization serve 12 hours a day at General Hospital giving service to the sick, worried or frightened people who come to the institution in all sorts of emergencies. In the past year that volunteer work has amounted to 6,000 hours.

The work of Mr. LaBar and the Gray Ladies is a day in and day out service which all of us take for granted. Yet their's is a tremendous service which benefits each of us.

It is good, then, that the Monroe County Medical Society has recognized Mr. LaBar and the Gray Ladies with the highest award given to laymen by the medical profession.

How To Save More Lives

Seventy traffic experts meeting recently in Washington recommended a series of changes in the Uniform Vehicle Code which state legislatures will be asked to adopt when they next meet.

The experts represent the model-law drafting group of the White House Conference on Highway Safety. They amended lighting, braking, maximum speed and driver licensing requirements.

Operating on the theory the Uniform Vehicle Code can never remain static as long as the conditions sought to be controlled change as frequently as they do through ever-increasing motor vehicle use and traffic congestion, the committee first developed a careful analysis of problems assigned them and then perfected recommendations.

Aside from changes in lighting for moving, halted and turning vehicles of every type, the committee has recommended an absolute maximum speed of 60 miles an hour, with 50 miles per hour at night for all vehicles. Lower limits are provided for urban and zoned areas.

The other major recommendation is that an applicant for a driver's license issued by another State must certify that he does not hold a currently valid driver's license issued by another State.

Lighting amendments are designed to improve public recognition of warning lights as aids to safer use of streets and highways.

As to absolute speed laws, the committee found cases where magistrates have discharged motor vehicle operators charged with speeding up to 90 miles an hour in states that have 60 mile per hour prima facie speed laws. Hence the trend toward the absolute speed limit as a practical necessity.

The "anti-social" practice of operators getting two licenses, from different states so he can continue to drive when one is revoked is met under the new Code provision as a practice which will be detected and punished.

Legislatures should lose no time in enacting these recommendations for the Uniform Vehicle Code. Each represents an important step towards saving many lives on the nation's highways.

The Once Over —by H. I. Phillips

We have been thinking back on the telecast of the recent solar eclipse by many TV stations and in order that I may all be ready for an improved performance next time (ten to 300 years from now, all depending on when you live) some suggestions for better TV coverage may be in order.

The video people failed to provide the proper mood for eclipse programming. For one thing there should have been an opening musical number, "Me and My Shadow," and a ballet, of course, in which the whole story of a solar eclipse could be presented to the video audience through leaps and bounds. Perhaps there should have been a song by "The Four Seasons." Other musical numbers next time should include obviously "Halo, Everybody, Halo," "On The Sunny Side of the Street," and perhaps, as a matter of reassurance to the public as the moon creeps over the sun, "Ain't Misbehavin'." At the peak when the sun completely disappears next time there must be "Who Stole the Ding Dong," we think.

Next time let's have a master of ceremonies (some moon-faced fellow with a sunny smile) doing justice to the show. "And now, folks, for a really unusual and sensational duo. This is the unique and extraordinary. It has been seen infrequently and whenever and wherever this stupendous novelty has appeared it has attracted the widest attention. Ladies and gentlemen, I give you that sterling team, the Sun and Moon!" Or perhaps the eclipse could be done via a TV panel, with the eclipse being shown only to the audience, while the panel cuties ask, "Is it something we see every day?" "Is it nice to have around the house?" "Is it vegetable, animal or mineral?" "Is it used by everybody?" etc.

It also occurs to us that next time there could be a Jack Webb motif to a solar eclipse: "Something pretty unusual going on here."

"Yeh. Sort of creepy. I noticed it, too. What's the setup?" "We've got one clue to start with... it's getting DARK." "Now we're gettin' somewhere, chief."

"Know who I suspect?" "No." "THE SHADOW!" "You got sumpin' there." "Just the facts, that's all we want. Come along."

"Get your rod?" "No. All we need is a TELESCOPE."

The more we think of the next eclipse, the more possibilities we see. Ultimately there will, of course, be sponsors. We can hear the Zsa Zsa Gabor chirping, "I've been a solar eclipse fan all my life. A friend told me about them and I have found them so soothing and refreshing. There is really nothing that adds to the complete enjoyment of life like an eclipse. Try one, won't you?"

House Senate Tax Bill Delay Is Premeditated

Washington — That curious House-Senate delay in ironing out their differences on the big tax savings bill is strictly premeditated.

It's deliberate strategy to postpone final action on the embattled legislation until near the close of the session in order to avert another long and uncertain wrangle over it.

Behind that danger is vehement House insistence on its version of the proposed tax savings on dividends.

Blunt warning of a last-ditch fight on this issue was privately served by Representative Dan Reed (R., N. Y.), chairman of the Ways and Means Committee which drafted the original measure, even before the Senate voted to slash his dividend provision.

Faced with this snarled backstage situation, Senator Eugene Millikin (R., Colo.), chairman of the Finance Committee, decided to hold off meeting with Reed and the other House conferees for a while. Millikin hopes that will cool off tempers, and also enhance his chances of getting speedy Senate approval of the tax measure that is finally agreed on by the House-Senate conferees.

They have plenty work cut out for them. Their sessions are sure to be long and stormy.

The controversial dividend credit is only one of many differences between the two chambers. It's not generally realized, but the Senate wrote more than 25 new provisions into the House bill, in addition to revising a number of others. Many of these amendments were perfunctorily adopted without the Senate having any idea of what they are all about. Some of these changes run into many millions of dollars. Treasury experts are still figuring up the score in lost revenue.

Millikin "accepted" them for two reasons: to avoid a time-consuming floor fight and a record vote—thereby making it possible for him to junk these amendments in the secrecy of the conference meetings if the House objects to them—which is probable. It's an old parliamentary stratagem and he used it freely.

Shotgun compromise—Representative Reed got wind of the plan to whittle down his tax credit on dividends shortly after that was decided at a secret meeting of the Senate Republican leaders.

Senator Irving Ives, N. Y., strong possibility as successor to Governor Dewey if he doesn't run for a fourth term, vigorously urged the revision.

"I'm not against giving stockholders tax relief," Ives explained, "but we can't do that for them alone. We've also got to vote some relief for the great mass of people who don't get dividends. The Democrats will slaughter us in the campaign if we don't do that. We have to go on record as favoring tax savings for everybody."

This contention was echoed by Senator Milton Young, N. D., sharp critic of the Administration.

Jack Cohn, genial vice-president of Columbia Pictures, couldn't resist seeing a new film produced by a competitor he abhors. When he came home, his family could hardly wait to hear his verdict. Mr. Cohn smiled slowly and reported, "Far be it from me to knock a product of good old So-and-so, but I must say this picture was so terrible that people were standing in line to get out of the theatre."

Those Moscow busybodies must have found the final results of that Guatemalan rebellion positively revolting!

Ohio's Gov. Frank Lausche has just announced he isn't running for President in 1956. So what? We aren't either.

Congress has appropriated more than a billion and a half dollars for the Health, Education and Welfare department but only 176 million for the Justice department. To him, opines Granddaddy Jenkins, that hardly seems like justice.

The newest angle on beauty contests must be the naming, done in Savannah, Tenn., of a National Catfish Queen.

Judging by the ruckuses at sessions of the Japanese parliament, most of the speeches must be made up of fighting words.

What will the United States do with its store of $3,500,000,000 of agricultural commodities? Even the slightly flexible price support bill, which Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, has finally got through the House of Representatives and probably the Senate by the time this is printed, will not solve the problem of our enormous stores.

Obviously the United States needs to stockpile minerals and materials which may not be swiftly accessible in time of war, but agricultural supplies in the United States are available annually, and generally in enormous quantities, beyond our necessities. How shall these enormous stores be disposed of? For instance, the United States owns 422,220,000 lbs. of butter, 401,982,000 lbs. of cheese, 282,530,000 lbs. of dried milk, purchased by the Commodity Credit Corporation to support the prices of these commodities. The cost of these items is $492,820,000; what their actual value is no one can say. They may have to be given away for nothing to make room for more price-supported items.

The United States owns 721,166,000 bushels of wheat and 379,979,000 bushels of corn. The cost of these commodities is $2,494,151,000. Practically speaking, our government has run out of storage space for wheat and corn. Some of it is put in the bottoms of ships that lie in our rivers doing nothing—(the mothball fleet is another story).

Secretary Benson has opposed rigid price supports without rejecting the entire doctrine of government aid to farmers designed to safeguard them from the drastic operations of the law of supply and demand, which historically has a tendency to reduce farmers to peasants. The American farmer is an equal citizen in a free society.

Essentially, parity means more than its definition in economics; socially it means equality between the farmer and the city dweller; it means that the farmer is to have as good a home; that he is to own his tools; that his children are to have equal opportunity for education. But parity can never mean that food prices for the cities are to be held up unconsciously and that the entire nation is to be taxed so that God-given food shall rot in warehouses, never to be used, not even as charity for the hungry.

Here is a dilemma of plenty. Usually it has been the opposite, poverty, shortages, hunger have faced a people as a serious problem. In the United States there is no poverty (this is categorically correct by any comparative measurement); there are no shortages of agricultural commodities; there is no hunger. Yet the plethora of agricultural production, this plenty has become a major economic and political problem, because no one knows any better what to do with too much than with too little.

I think I have found the remedy for juvenile delinquency. I found it in a telephone booth next to the one I was using, and I found it by eavesdropping.

Newspapermen get some of their best stories by minding other people's business. So, the solution of the juvenile delinquency problem which I discovered was not really my business at all but a personal problem between a mother and her 14 year old daughter.

The woman who was talking to her daughter was a friend of mine and her girl was a friend of mine, too, as much as a 14 year old and a middle-aged man can be friends. So I was a little bit familiar with the lives of both of them.

The two were arguing on the phone in a friendly sort of way. The kid wanted to go out on a party which would not be over until after midnight. Mother tried to convince her daughter that 11 o'clock was the deadline for 14 year old girls. There must have been some pretty sharp words. I could hear only one side of the conversation, the mother's, and they were pretty gentle.

But on the other end they were a bit more on the 1954 order. One of the things, as the mother told me afterwards, the girl said was, "please don't blow a gut."

The conversation went on for more than 10 minutes. Finally, when it was over, Mother had convinced her daughter that she should be home at eleven, the girl had promised, and everything was all right.

And as the mother hung up the phone—and here comes the solution to the juvenile delinquency problem—she said very softly to that young daughter of hers: "I love you, dear."

I don't think there can ever be any juvenile delinquency where there is love and genuine affection.

That's very funny considering his own gazette's bluenoses taboos the same word from a theatrical ad . . . Add Skewes: H. Bogart's elegant center name is DeForest. (Drop that gat Humphreys DeForest?) . . . Man, jazz toolers are the Crayzeist. Current clang-clang recordings have such monickers as "Ergo," "Backhand," and "Pro DeFunctis." (Diggit?) . . . Actress Pier Angeli's confession: "I always feel just terrible when I know I'm going to do a love scene" . . . (Music Cue: "Pier Butterfly.")

Remarkable Remarks: Dorothy Dandridge: "There's never been a good actress who couldn't register sex appeal if the role called for it."

O. come now, Dorothy. That makes as much sense as saying every good looking gal can act!

Kathryn Murray was asked: "Is there any difference between a dancer and a choreographer?" . . . A dancer, explained Arthur's wife, "gets muscles in her legs. A choreographer gets muscles in his head" . . . At the Murray's 43rd Street studio is this sign: "To Executive Offices, Dance Up One Flight" . . . Eddie Fisher's "Green Years" passed the 650,000 mark already. His 17th consecutive record climb . . . The 4 Times latest platter, "The Greatest Feeling In The World," rates a plug . . . Cadillac's name of a bike, too . . . Remember the swagman line about Hollywood boredom: "No matter how hot it gets in the daytime there's no place to go at night" . . . It's in "Mrs. Leslie," a good tear-jerker starring Shirley Booth. ("Chloe Mr. Leslie, honey") . . . People Today mag says Russia's new secret weapon is sex. (Bang! Bang! You're Dadda!)

Ida Lupino's proclamation: about directing herself again in a cinema: "Oh, Sweetie, I don't ever want to do that again. I'm an actress who needs a director. It's just too tough to direct yourself."

Who said you need a recording hit? Nellie Lutcher (she hasn't had one since "Real Gawn Guy" 7 years ago) has an annual income of about $100,000. She works at night clubs, theaters, club-dates, etc. when she feels like it. Her investments (seeds of property in Los Angeles and oil in Mexico) work for her all the time . . . One Guess: Who gave Nellie her first plugs which skyrocketed her so high she has never come down? . . . Ailing Guy Kibbee would like some mail. The veteran actor is at Aurora Institute, Rye, N. Y. . . . Mamie's favorite time of show: Musical comedy . . . 2nd Night critics at the Jones Beach "Arabian Nights," are treated like poor relatives. Each. First Night reviewers rated a buffet-dinner . . . (Sech, discrimination!) . . . It's a baby girl for the George (Boston Record) Clarke . . . Ooops! Type Dept. Yesterday's item should have read: Robert Willey, producer Gant Galtner's gen'l mgr., married TV actress Helen Wagner . . . In Amesbury, Mass., they call it wife swapping. In Hollywood they call it Divorce.

Add Show-Oafs (N. Y. Times style): "The highly definable aura of the champion still curls about Jack Dempsey like a sort of shimmering effluvia." (The poor guy means it Just Keeps Flowing Out) . . . J. Lardner in Newsweek: "There was a troglodyte prize fight." (Hi-brow way of saying they fought like cave-men) . . . Critic Brooks Atkinson in the Times: "It is not necessary to denigrate." (The ignorant man is trying to tell yez dat yez don't has to defame nobody, see?) . . . From the Herald-Trib financial pages: "He is prominent in charitable and eleemosynary organizations." (Look, Pal, that's redundant. Both words mean the same thing. Now get the Hades hellouttahere!)

Paulette Goddard's lament: "A woman should not make a career out of work. All she will end up with is a secretary and a book of faded press clippings. Neither a consolation when you're old."

Howz about a male sekketry?

During a showing of the Coronation Procession, Queen Salote (whose ancestors were cannibal kings) drove by. A very tiny man sat alongside her. "Fevinsakes, who's thett?" No! Coward's companion inquired.

"Her lunch," giggled Noel.

Funeral Rites Planned For Crash Victim

SERVICES WILL be held tomorrow for a Gouldsboro native who was killed instantly on his 37th birthday Wednesday in a two-car collision near Tobyhanna. Meanwhile, three other persons in the second car remain hospitalized—two in critical condition; the third "satisfactory."

An Army veteran of World War Two, Ernest Rauscher, brother of Mrs. Wilbur Pope of East Stroudsburg, died instantly of a fractured neck and crushed chest at 11:20 a.m. on Route 611 a mile north of Tobyhanna.

Rauscher was enroute to work in Philadelphia when the fatal accident occurred. He and his wife, the former Anna Bowman of Scranton, and their six-year-old daughter Audrey had spent the weekend at his parents' summer home in Gouldsboro.

MRS. RAUSCHER and daughter planned to spend some time with her parents in Scranton away from their Philadelphia home.

A Pennsylvania Railroad conductor for the past 14 years, Rauscher was driving south when the mishap occurred. Pfc. Homer Jones of Mount Pocono State police said last night statements from occupants of the northbound car indicated Rauscher swerved into the path of their vehicle. The crushing impact sent Rauscher's car reeling off the road and over an embankment. Rauscher was partially pinned beneath the overturned car.

Still in critical condition at the hospital are Andrew Darlak, 33, the driver and his brother, John, 23. Andrew's wife Doris, 33, is reported "satisfactory."

Trooper Jones said he talked briefly with Andrew yesterday afternoon. It was the first opportunity police had to learn details of the accident because the three survivors all were unconscious following the crash.

JONES SAID Darlak told him Rauscher swerved to avoid hitting a south-bound car in front. The Rauscher car cut across the highway and Darlak's northbound car crashed into the side, sending Rauscher over the embankment, the statement said.

Andrew Darlak is suffering internal injuries, fractured jaw, severe cuts of both arms, jaw and left eyebrow and bruises of the chest, hips and both legs. He lost most of his teeth when thrown against the windshield, Jones reported.

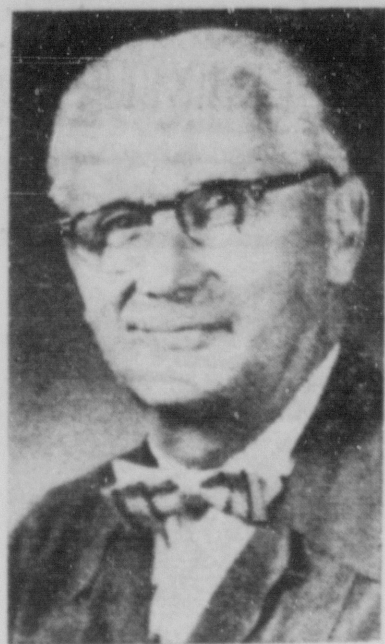

Mrs. Darlak, riding in the front seat beside her husband, received cuts of left elbow, chin, left eyebrow and right wrist, and bruises of the hip.

John Darlak, riding in the back seat, lost his teeth in the crash, suffered internal injuries and severe cuts of the face, left elbow and fractured jaw.

REV. CHARLES E. Brodell of Christ Lutheran Church will officiate at the Rauscher funeral services Saturday at 10 a.m. in a Scranton funeral home. Further services will occur in Gouldsboro Lutheran Church at 11 a.m.

In addition to his wife and daughter, Mr. Rauscher is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Rauscher Sr. of Stanhope, N. J.

No Compromise This Time!

It was over twenty years ago that he took title to his first motor car—and, since that time, he has owned and driven almost a dozen different automobiles.

And yet, every time he accepted the keys to a new car, he knew in his heart that it was a compromise.

For—like so many millions of his fellow men—he had his heart set on a Cadillac!

Well, there's no compromise this time! The magic moment has arrived. The papers are all in order... the keys are in his hand... and the car of his dreams is waiting for him to take the wheel.

It's his!

And, if you could ride with him on that first journey, you'd know what it means to have a motoring dream come true.

You'd see excitement in his eyes as he rolls majestically through the city's traffic—and puts his Cadillac through its thrilling paces on the open road.

You'd see honest pride in his face as he sits, calmly and serenely in the driver's seat, and catches the admiring glances of his fellow motorists.

And you'd sense the joy in his heart as he turns down that familiar street and heads for the happiest homecoming of the year!

In short, you'd witness a motorist in his finest hour—living out an experience that has no counterpart in the world of transportation. It is a thrill and an inspiration and an education—all rolled into one.

A friend of ours put it this way, after taking his inaugural ride in his first Cadillac. "There are two kinds of automobiles," he told us. "There are Cadillacs—and there are all the others."

Whether or not you've driven "all the others," we can't say. But of one thing we are certain: Until you've spent an hour in the driver's seat of a 1954 Cadillac, your motoring education is not complete.

Why not come in soon and do so? It would be a joy and a privilege to put you behind the wheel.

States Reach Agreement On Fishing Rules

HARRISBURG (AP)—Fishing licenses from both Pennsylvania and New Jersey will be recognized on the Delaware River from shore to shore under a new reciprocal agreement reached between the two states.

The licensed fishermen will be permitted to take off in a boat from either shore to fish on the water, the Pennsylvania State Fish Commission said yesterday.

The commission added, however, that Pennsylvanians must possess a New Jersey non-resident license if they wish to fish from the New Jersey shore.

NEW JERSEY anglers likewise must have a Pennsylvania non-resident permit to fish from this side of the Delaware.

The agreement exempts persons sailing in fishing boats from being required to possess a license. Those rowing for fishermen, however, must have a license.

Beginning next year, the bag limit on trout in the Delaware in the area between Pennsylvania and New Jersey will be reduced from 20 to 8 to correspond to the bag limit in inland waters.

THOMAS CAMPBELL, new manager of the Stroudsburg J. C.

Penney Store came up with a novel stunt this week—the results attracting about 750 entries.

Campbell had two blinlets encased in a 300-pound cake of ice and set up the display on Main St.

The idea was to guess how long it would take before the ice melted.

Two winners announced yesterday were C. Carless, N. 6th St. and John Tartz, Bushkill Falls.

Both predicted it would take 23 hours. The ice melted in 33 hours, nine minutes.

One of Penney's clerks stood by until the last piece of ice melted.

Teenagers Honored By GOP Council

The picnic meeting of the Monroe Council of Republican Women was transferred to the Stroudsburg Municipal Building because of the rain on Wednesday night, but the attendance stayed high with 50 persons attending.

Program emphasis was on youth with the crowning of Mr. and Miss Republican of 1954 in the person of Graham Andoe and Miss Sylvia Younkin, who won the popularity vote in a teen-age venture into practical politics. They were crowned by Miss Republican of 1953, Miss Charlotte Toewe, and by the new president of the Teen-age Republican Club, Lowell Fellman. Lowell also introduced his slate of officers.

Jane Slutsky, who won first prize in the recent teen-age essay contest with scholarship award, read her prize-winning essay on "What the Republicans Accomplished in the First Year of the Administration."

Floyd Fetherman gave the opening invocation. Mrs. John Kitchen, program chairman, introduced six of the Deemettes from Stroudsburg High School: Martha Yost, Patricia Bartholomew, Ruth Fetherman, Susan Harmon, Mary Grace and Sandra Bolch. They sang "Salutation" by Gaines, and "It Was a Lover and His Lass" by France.

Mrs. Irving B. Kiffin presided at the meeting. Lester Burlein, scheduled speaker, was unable to be present. Ben Williams, county chairman, spoke in his place, stressing the importance of the Fall elections. He urged Republicans to consider political conditions from the viewpoint of their own town and county, since problems solved close to home influence state and nation.

Dr. William Toewe complimented the young people for their interest in politics. John Shotwell urged them to study and support the Constitution of the United States.

Godparents Entertained At Stacky Home

Stanley Stacky and daughter, Agnes, of Stroudsburg, entertained Agnes' godmother and godfather from New York City and their guests.

Features of the party were a hot dog and hamburger roast outside, followed by round and square dancing in the recreation room in front of the fireplace. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. A. Kohn, Mr. and Mrs. R. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. W. Dollard and daughter, Doris and son, Roy, Mr. and Mrs. John McLoughlin and son, Mrs. Florrie Conkling and Miss Marie Polecek.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

It's amazing the number of teen-agers who are working this summer. Wherever you look—whether it's the court house, the shops, the street construction gang, the drivers of the trucks, the attendants at the gas stations, the hospital, the restaurants, the hotels—they are busy like anything.

We've got quite a discussion going on whether or not that's a healthy sign. I contend that it is—that in contrast to the way we were content to spend our summers, letting each day provide for itself, that they're a very ambitious lot. They're learning and they're earning and achieving a kind of independence quite foreign to our young years.

However, I'm willing to admit there may be some justice to the argument on the other side. First, they want more things than we used to consider necessary. Second, they dislike the housework and the yard chores which would be their lot if they tried to spend a summer in idleness.

Well, anyway, it does keep them out of mischief since after a full day of work they need no arguments about an early bedtime. But it also keeps them out of leisure. And with that they join the vast army of us who somehow have got to the stage where every hour is accounted for.

You miss a lot that way. I can remember the summer holiday that used to drive us to the library shelves—and the quantity of good literature we absorbed because there wasn't anything else to do. I can remember the hours of day-dreaming while bees hummed and nothing else interrupted. That was a good time to live through, too.

Pins And Needles 4-H Meets At Bond Home

The meeting was held July 7 at the home of Mrs. Archie Heller. Present for the meeting were Anita Learn, Gwendolyn Hahn, Sidney Jean Heller, Reta and Helen Pfaffinger, Linda and Joyce Kresge, Claudette Van Why, Jennie Schaffer, Bonnie Neyhart, Sandra Haney, Rosemary Schuler, Susan Stulgaitis, Miss MacLaren, Mrs. Pfaffinger, Mrs. Archie Heller and Mrs. Russell Bond.

Sharron Fabel Entertains Chipperettes

Sharron Fabel, of Chipperfield Drive was hostess to the Chipperettes 4-H Club on Tuesday afternoon. After a short business meeting, the girls sewed on their dresses.

Next week's meeting will be held at the home of Jane Layton. Refreshments were served to the following: Miss Margaret MacLaren, Joan Hester, Jane Layton, Diane Colvin and Sharron Fabel.

Around The Stroudsburgs

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore of Berwick are spending the week as the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cohen, North Fifth St., Stroudsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Marvin and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cramer are leaving today for a trip to the Thousand Islands.

Mrs. Oscar Gutman, former resident of Stroudsburg, who now lives in Pottstown is spending the week with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Kessler, Bushkill.

Mrs. William Melick, the former Mary Biggs, and daughter, Mary Lou, of Sacramento, Cal., and Miss Loreta Biggs, R. N., of San Francisco, are visiting their mother, Mrs. Theresa Biggs in Stroudsburg.

Community Auction Supports Dallas Library

Dallas—One community has solved the problem of library support without a cent of revenue from taxes and without an endowment. Founded by the community of Dallas, the Back Mountain Memorial Library is supported almost entirely by the annual library auction.

The eighth annual auction is scheduled for Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to midnight at the library. Last year receipts were over $12,000 in contrast to the first year when the receipts were $3,000.

Livestock, used furniture, antiques, and new goods go over the block. Thousands of people attend with a climax on Saturday night. This year to supplement the refreshment stand, Dallas Kiwanis Club plans a chicken barbecue for Saturday night during the 5 to 7 lull in auctioneering.

In addition to actual merchandise, there is a building lot and a suburban development to be auctioned off, and various services, ranging from permanent waves to septic tank cleaning. Topsoil, peat moss and well-rotted manure for the gardener, flagstones and coal by the load are among the unusual items to be offered.

The Monday night session is bargain day at its wildest with the Barn emptied to its four walls.

Cheddar cheese comes three ways—mild, medium and sharp. You can buy the wedge-shaped size you want from a large wheel; it also comes pre-packaged, rind-free and in an air-resistant wrapper. Serve it with salads, in sandwiches, in toppings for casseroles or soups, or as dessert with fresh fruit and nuts.

Legion Auxiliaries To Add To Hospital Equipment By Campaign Opening Monday

The four American Legion Auxiliary units in Monroe County are again joining in sponsoring a magazine subscription campaign throughout the county, proceeds from which will be used to purchase additional sick room equipment for the use of the general public. The campaign, sponsored annually by the Four County Council of the American Legion Auxiliary, will open on Monday, July 12.

As a result of previous campaigns all of the county auxiliaries have purchased and maintained sick room and life saving equipment.

Mrs. Martha Koch, president of East Stroudsburg Auxiliary, said that the auxiliary has added to its original equipment two beds, one wheel chair, one walking chair and a pneumatic, which is a form of respirator, all through previous magazine campaigns. The auxiliary also maintains three additional beds, two additional wheelchairs and many pair of crutches, most of them in continuous use.

The Pocono Auxiliary has two hospital beds, and one bed side of rails which it has on loan; the Mount Pocono auxiliary has two hospital beds and one wheel chair; the Canadensis auxiliary, 1 bed, 1 wheelchair and 1 bed side; and the Gilbert auxiliary has two beds, and 1 wheelchair.

The equipment is available for temporary use without charge to any resident. The auxiliaries have found that it has been in almost constant demand, and has given valuable and timely service throughout the county. The equipment the auxiliaries propose to purchase this year will also meet a need, they feel.

As in past years, only accredited representatives of the publishers, bearing letters of introduction and identification from the Legion Aux. signed by the president, will call on residents to explain the plan. Residents are asked to request representatives to show their letters of introduction in order to eliminate any misrepresentation by unauthorized persons. Donations are not to be solicited or accepted.

The George N. Kemp Unit 346 reports that its hospital equipment is housed at the Legion Home when not in use, and any resident may call Mrs. Charles Reid, 319 J to arrange to borrow it.

Monroe Council Installs Officers, Plans Picnic

Officers of Monroe Council No. 131, Sons and Daughters of Liberty were installed at the meeting on Tuesday night in the IOOF Hall, Main St.

Miss Tamson Kohl, deputy state counselor to Monroe Council, was the installing officer. She was assisted by Mrs. Miriam Osmon of Easton, who is deputy state counselor to Bridge of Lehigh Council, No. 194, Allentown.

During the meeting, it was decided to combine the lodge picnic and past officers picnic in one big affair to be held Wednesday, July 14, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Dailey, East Stroudsburg RD 3, near Percy Crawford's Pinebrook.

Members are asked to bring table service and a covered dish for the supper which is to be served at 6 p.m.

Leftover corned beef makes wonderful hash, of course; but don't forget that it is delicious for sandwich fillings. Chop it fine and mix it with enough Russian dressing to moisten; for something crisp—and for a change—add finely shredded green cabbage to the sandwich instead of lettuce.

If you do a lot of cake and cookie baking, you'll find rubber spatulas a great help in mixing and when cleaning out bowls. Their blades come in two widths, one about half as wide as the other; both sizes are useful in the kitchen.

Shower Is Held For Mrs. Pipher At Sibley Home

A baby shower was held on Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. John Sibley, Washington St., East Stroudsburg, in honor of Mrs. William Pipher. Mrs. John Bachman was co-hostess with Mrs. Sibley.

Guests included Mrs. Joseph Small, Mrs. Fred Rhodes, Mrs. Richard Fredenberg, Mrs. James Kitchen, Mrs. Russell Boekenkroeger, Mrs. Warren Mikels, Mrs. Theodore Hoffman, Mrs. J. Joseph McCluskey, Mrs. Gerald Shanley Jr., Mrs. Harry Ahnert, Jr., Mrs. Robert Ahnert, Mrs. Boyd Weiss Jr., Mrs. William Laubner, Mrs. Theodore Price, Mrs. Roland Hoot, Mrs. Earl Pipher, Mrs. Arch Barry, Mrs. Earl Clark, Mrs. H. Nelson Albrecht, Mrs. Chester Miller, Mrs. Julius Kessler, Mrs. Walter Dowling.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Barry and Mrs. Kessler. Invited but not able to attend were Mrs. Richard McDonough, Mrs. Robert Altomero, Mrs. Stephen Barr and Mrs. Floyd Bachman.

Fonte-Cutrona Wedding On July Fourth

Bangor—Miss Angelina Cutrona, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cutrona, of 946 Berwick St., Easton, and Joseph Fonte, son of Mrs. Maria Fonte and the late Mr. Fonte of 203 Martino St., Roseto, were married on Sunday, July 4, at 11:15 with a nuptial Mass at St. Anthony's Church. Rev. John V. Bartos performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace with a v-neckline, long sleeves and a tiered skirt of nylon tulle trimmed with Chantilly lace. The skirt had panniers at the side and lengthened to a chapel length train. Her fingertip veil of tulle was caught by a crown of pearls and sequins. She carried a prayer book with an orchid.

Miss Theresa Cutrona was maid of honor and Miss Marion Cutrona and Mrs. Anna Karbach were bridesmaids. They wore gowns of orchid crystal, floor-length, with matching shoulder-ette capes. They wore tiaras trimmed with pearls and carried prayer books with orchids and carnations.

Patricia Sapone, flower girl, wore a gown of orchid net over taffeta with a headpiece of white carnations. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations. Mike Delesio, of Roseto, was best man and Tommy Comunale of Roseto and Albert Ruggerio, of Bangor, cousin of the bride, were ushers.

Miss Josephine Brasso was organist and Mrs. Catherine Henderson was soloist.

Blakeslee Couple Wed 60 Years Ago

Blakeslee—A number of friends relatives and neighbors gathered on Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Serfoss to help them celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary. Each guest brought his favorite food so that the table presented a wide variety.

After dinner, the guests gathered on the front porch for reminiscences. Mrs. Serfoss served watermelon.

Those present were: Mrs. Ruth K. Daniell, Miss Josephine Blakeslee, Mrs. Emory Getz, Mrs. Grace Bush, Mrs. Helen Hanna, Miss Lillian Van Vorst, Pocono Summit, Mrs. A. T. Blakeslee Sr., Mrs. William Wrick, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Serfoss.

Daughter Is Born

Blakeslee — Mr. and Mrs. William H. Staples announce the birth of a daughter, Pamela Ellen Ruth, born July 2 at the General Hospital in East Stroudsburg. Mr. Staples is a student at the State Teachers College in East Stroudsburg.

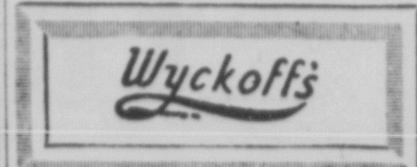

When she was a little girl and was heartbroken by the incidents of her life, Lillian Roth's mother would say, "Don't cry, Lily dear — by tomorrow everything will look different. Don't cry today. Cry tomorrow." With this philosophy in mind, the former star, now traveling the uphill comeback trail, has written her life's story under the title, "I'll Cry Tomorrow."

Lillian Roth has a great deal about which to cry, and her tears are all the more painful because, in a great measure, they were of her own making. Psychiatrists can find all sorts of reasons why this beautiful young woman should have thrown stardom away in her early twenties and slipped into that hopeless slough of despair known as "alcoholism." She was unhappy as a child, they point out; she suffered an inferiority complex that made her envious of other women; she was the product of a home in which the parents were constantly battling, her first real love affair ended in tragedy and frustration. Moreover, she had been destined, by her mother's grim determination, to be an actress even before her birth. At the age of six she was being trotted each day to casting offices and movie studios, and precocious beyond her years, she realized that storms of emotion would descend upon her should she fall short of expectations. But even with these excuses, Lillian Roth's suffering was deepened by the fact that she had been a star, and was too weak to stand up to the glory.

Her book is one which I feel should be given every teen-ager to read; a book which might also serve as a warning to those far older who feel that a stimulant or a blackout is the answer to all of life's problems. Lillian Roth points out that drinking isn't fun. It is suffering, shame, poverty, remorse, and indelible errors that can be forgiven, but not wiped out or forgotten. From being in lights at age eighteen, her name was dragged through the gutter before she was thirty. She tells of her physical suffering when every nerve craved alcohol and her body was repelled by it . . . of her spiritual craving for a God who would help and shield her, but seemed impossible to find . . . and of her mental cringing and insecurity in the face of snubs and rebuffs from former friends and associates.

Hers isn't a pretty story, but it is a triumphant one. It shows how, even when a partial cure had been effected, the hapless woman fell once again into the old ways, and how she finally sought help from Alcoholics Anonymous. Through this organization a whole, new life unfolded. She fell in love with a socialite also seeking a cure from AA, and was married for the fifth (and probably last) time; she began to think about her career and her appearance. She became, as she expresses it, a human being and a woman again. On a tour to Australia, she and her husband introduced the story of AA; they worked for prison reforms for the alcoholic, and she again mounted a stage—this time in a church to talk before congregations at the request of their pastors.

Today Lillian Roth is a star again. Her story, available in our book department, can be a beacon of light to those who need it; a monument to those who have lived through similar experiences, and a signpost of danger for those who think, "That couldn't happen to me." The book, published by Frederick Fell, Inc., has as its foreword a few lines from Marcus Aurelius Antonius: "Unhappy am I that this has happened to me? Happy am I, though this has happened to me, for I continue free from pain, neither crushed by the past nor fearing the future; for such a thing as this might have happened to any man."

Work continues at Memorial Stadium, as volunteer labor battles against time to shape up the East Stroudsburg High school athletic field for the biggest show of its type ever held in the poconos. The show, being directed and put together by Tom Waring, will feature a cast of approximately 300 people and will be held at Memorial Stadium on Sunday, August 15. Talent for the three-hour program will come from all sections of the United States, with one of the planned stars currently in Hawaii and another in Hollywood.

The "Stadium Gang" was back at its work at 6 p. m. yesterday and worked far into the night laying concrete under the grandstand. Nobody's asking glory or credit, but each is giving of his time and labor in an effort to put the local ball yard in the best possible shape for the big show. This attitude is typical of all people taking part in the drive for $18,000 and a permanent lighting system for Memorial Stadium.

There isn't the slightest trace of defeatist attitude in the large group carrying the East Stroudsburg banner. Everybody is doing his job and giving that little bit of extra something that always brings about success. The brand of teamwork being shown by the residents of East Stroudsburg at the present time is second to none ever demonstrated in Monroe County. It's the type of teamwork of which everyone is proud.

The first chapter of the drive is scheduled to be completed tomorrow, when the poles for the lighting system arrive at Memorial Stadium. The remainder of the equipment is said to be on hand and it is quite possible that the lighting system may be erected and put in working order by August 15, or the day of the big show. The drive is on, equipment is arriving and work is being turned out beyond expectations. This is the drive of drives in the local area as far as this reporter is concerned.

Five dollars may seem like a stiff admission price for the show, to be known as Eastburg Highlights and Festival of Celebrities, but such isn't the case. True, five bucks is nothing to sneeze at, but the admission price is dirt cheap when the entire picture is painted. There will be a total of nearly 300 people in the cast of the show, which is listed to run for at least three hours.

Most shows have one big star or two at the most, but the program currently being whipped together by Waring will have a multitude of stars, many the biggest names on Broadway and in Hollywood. There will also be a number of big time sports celebrities, at least one or more that most of us had little hope of ever seeing. The East Stroudsburg High band will play and local industrial plants will take part in a tug-of-war elimination tournament.

There will be something for every member of the family. Fishermen will thrill to the antics of champion flycasters and fairgoers will watch with interest the best horse shoe pitchers in Pennsylvania and maybe in the United States. There will be male and female vocalists of great renown, sports figures will be all over the place and in general the best available talent will be presented to the people of Monroe County and summer visitors in the area—all for five dollars.

The entire Stadium area in front of the grandstand will be turned into a giant stage and Memorial Stadium will be splashed with more color than it has ever known or maybe more than it will ever feature again. There may be a big parade on the field as the opening number and one of the best Drum & Bugle Corps in the world, operating out of Tyrone, Pa., will show its outstanding ability during the course of the show.

A careful check of early plans reveals that five dollars a ticket isn't nearly as much a strain on the pocketbook as first seems the case. Most campaigns result in "all give and no receive", but the August 15 show makes the Memorial Stadium Light Fund drive something new in the way of money raising ventures. People can now give to one of the most worthy causes in this neck of the woods and have a good time doing it. Save your pennies, nickels and dimes, join in the work and fun and make Memorial Stadium one of the finest structures of its type in the state. Nobody can lose on this deal, except those who miss the show and miss the thrill that goes with working to make the entire drive a success.

Stroudsburg and the Slate Belt clash in the first District Two Babe Ruth League playoff in this area this season today, when the two neighboring circuits meet at Bangor's Memorial Field.

The first pitch is scheduled to take place at 6:15 p. m. Gene Martin, president of the Babe Ruth League of the Stroudsburgs, announced last night that the Stroudsburg squad would consist of 14 players chosen from all five clubs in the circuit.

The list of players includes Terry Bartleson, Line Material; Reed Gravel, Barrett; Dave Heckman, Worthington Mower; Ronald Heller, International Boiler; Bill Henry, Barrett; Jim Morris, Ronson; Carl Motts, Barrett; Ronald Phillips, Line Material; Roger Ray, Worthington Mower; Phil Reusswig, Worthington Mower; Dick Shaffer, Worthington Mower; Barry Tretthaway, Worthington Mower; Dick Williams, Barrett; and Jack Zink, Barrett.

The Stroudsburg team is scheduled to depart from Stroudsburg High school at 4:30 p. m.

Tonight's winner of the Stroudsburg-Bangor clash will meet either Kingston or Hazleton, at either Stroudsburg or Bangor, next week.
